

SEC Faculty Travel Program Important Dates – COVID-19 Revisions

(Revised: September 11, 2020)

In support of the SEC Faculty Travel Program, the SEC provides up to $10,000 in travel awards to each SEC university to assist participating faculty. The important dates associated with the program are listed in the chart below, as revised in light of the public health crisis associated with the COVID-19 (novel coronavirus) pandemic.

The below chart outlines the SEC Faculty Travel program operations as of September 10, 2020, and it is based on the current state of national affairs. As circumstances evolve, the program’s operations may be further altered.

For additional information or to ask questions, please contact your SEC university program administrator.
